NOVEMBER NEWSLETTER

Thanksgiving is approaching, and we want you to know that when we sit around our table and think of our many blessings, we will be thankful for you - our customers and friends!

We are also thankful for the luxuries in our home: access to clean water, adequate sanitation through plumbing, heat and light through electricity and gas, and our health which is certainly aided by these luxuries.

We never lose sight of the value we place in our homes; and that is why we promise to work hard and keep them safe.

From our home to yours, Happy Thanksgiving!

This Thanksgiving, Conserve While You Cook & Clean

This Thanksgiving, you know that at Thursty Water Systems, we are thankful for water, so we are always looking for ways to encourage our friends and customers to conserve this precious resource.

"According to the EPA, if every household in America reduced their water use by 10 gallons on Thanksgiving, we'd save more than one billion gallons of water."

Check out this video produced by What You Can Do to learn how!

Thursty Water Served Purified H<sub>2</sub>O to Chowderfest Goers

This past month, we were honored to provide clean, filtered water on-site for all attendees at the 24th Annual Chowderfest, held at Funspot this year. We hooked into Funspot's water supply, filtered the water, and poured delicious water into every cup!

Every year, Chowderfest raises funds for the Lakes Region Conservation Trust, which works to protect and maintain our beautiful lakes. Participating businesses from the area made their best chowder, and served samples to all attendees. The attendees casted their votes to select this year's Best Chowder!

This was our third year volunteering with Chowderfest, and we are happy to say that it was a success! Thank you to everyone who attended, from businesses to residents, and even visitors to the Lakes Region!

Preparing For Winter: To Do List

If you didn't get the chance to read our October Newsletter articles all about preparing for the winter season, here is a quick summary of the information you may want to know:

1) Prevent a leak in the Spring: Before the winter arrives, we recommend that you take the hose off of the sillcock outside your house. This will prevent it from freezing, and will decrease the chance that you'll have a leak when you want to use the hose next spring.

2) Have Your Burner Serviced: Annual burner services are crucial to maintaining the efficiency of your burner and the safety of your home. We encourage you to schedule your annual burner service as needed. Proper service and maintenance will help decrease the chances that you'll lose heat this winter. As always, remember to hire a licensed technician. At Thursty Water, we have a 16 point checklist to ensure that your burner is properly serviced, including the cleaning, nozzle, electrodes and fuel filter replacements if needed. We provide you with a report of your burner efficiency test results, and if you worked with us last year, we provide a comparison with last year's test. Your information will stay on file in our office for reference in 2012, and we'll provide a courtesy call to schedule your next service.

3) Keep your home safe and secure with routine Home Checks: Whether you're planning on leaving for the entire season, or perhaps just one week for a vacation, you might be interested in having your home checked while you're away. Home Checks ensure that your home remains safe and secure both outside and inside, and that all systems continue to work properly. Also, with copper theft on the rise, residential homes have been prone to this theft as well. (Learn more at www.coppercoalition.com and www.coppertheft.info) We offer home checks for a minimal fee, and all checks are scheduled in our routine maintenance each month. As always, you can call our office to learn more!
