STRATEGIC MANAGEMENT OF INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY PORTFOLIOS

We provide our clients with comprehensive IP service to maximize their intellectual property holdings. We help capture, register, enforce and monetize these assets with an eye on the return on our clients’ investments, employing various strategies and tactics from both a legal and business perspective to meaningfully maximize these assets.

Tim Szuhaj, Becker Meisel’s Intellectual Property Chair, continues to successfully represent Nutrisystem, Inc., a national leader in the weight loss industry, in prosecuting trademark applications and enforcing the company’s trademark rights in the United States and world-wide. We provide Nutrisystem with primary outside counsel regarding the vital issues related to building and protecting the company’s famous brand.

In addition to structuring and maintaining a substantial world-wide trademark portfolio of over 250 marks, we vigorously pursue enforcement of Nutrisystem’s rights on a world-wide basis via pursuing oppositions in the subject jurisdictions, and pursuing administrative proceedings before various international bodies, including the WIPO or beneficial interparty agreements. We continue to counsel Nutrisystem with respect to day-to-day trademark and domain name issues.

DOMAIN NAME PROCUREMENT

With the new information era confronting businesses, maintaining a brand identity has become increasingly complex. Internet presence is all but a must in the modern marketplace. We provide our clients with counsel regarding the selection of domain name as it relates to their brands as well as the brands of other companies.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY PRACTICE

COPYRIGHT REGISTRATION FOR WRITTEN, VISUAL, GRAPHIC, SOUND RECORDING, SOFTWARE, AND HTML MATERIALS

Through our representation of software and technology companies, we are especially adroit at protecting rights in software and related materials.

We advise clients on the synergistic relationship of copyrights to other types of intellectual property; the securing of copyright protection filings; and strategy development to maximize the revenue potential of copyrights. We also protect clients' rights in court. We represented Lime Systems, Inc., which involved, first and foremost, the registration of its copyrights. Additionally, our Intellectual Property Practice Chair, Tim Szuhaj, brought a suit against former employees and the founder who left the company, for copyright infringement and various other contractual violations.

After vigorously prosecuting the matter, the case settled with our client obtaining a substantial cash settlement. We also handle all of Lime Systems' trademark and copyright matters, helping the client to build its brand and maintain its competitive advantage. We continue to represent Lime Systems in day-to-day intellectual property matters.

INTERNET, CYBERLAW AND E-COMMERCE

Becker Meisel assists with the formation of online businesses such as limited liability companies, corporations and non-profit companies. We draft legal disclaimers for websites, including terms and conditions, privacy policies, online sale or license agreements and hosting agreements, advising our clients on issues related to online marketing, the Communications Decency Act, the Digital Millennium Copyright Act and compliance with the Child Protection and Obscenity Enforcement Act. The firm also represents clients with respect to online copyright and trademark infringement, cybersquatting and other disputes.

“As our business continues to grow, safeguarding our intellectual property has become an increasing priority. We have always been able to count on Becker Meisel to provide us with comprehensive intellectual property management and strategic planning assistance.”

*-- Bill Swank,
President and CEO,
Lime Systems*

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY PRACTICE

Riverside Recreations LLC relies on our firm to provide advice regarding all legal aspects of their social networking website, including trademark and copyright issues, compliance with state and Federal statutes and regulations and the preparation of Terms of Use, Privacy Policies and other legal documents.

The breadth and depth of our knowledge and experience allows our attorneys to assist our clients in formulating practical solutions to expected and unexpected issues that arise.

PATENT LITIGATION

We represent clients in all phases of patent litigation, both as lead counsel in the Federal District Courts nationwide and the Court of Appeals for the Federal Circuit, and as local counsel in the busy patent forum that is the District of New Jersey.

Becker Meisel represented Polytech Enterprises Ltd, a Chinese company, in extensive patent litigation related to single-use film cameras. This litigation included the question of the international applicability of the doctrine of patent exhaustion.

TRADEMARK PROCUREMENT AND BRANDING IN THE U.S. AND ABROAD

Selecting the right trademark is integral to the brand equity inherent in successful businesses. Our trademark professionals not only guide clients through the clearance and registration process, but also advise as to appropriate use to further strengthen the goodwill associated with these trademarks. We have extensive experience in procuring and leveraging trademarks in the United States, Europe and Asia. For example, we work with Infinitus Law Corporation of Singa- pore to provide representation in the United States for several of Infinitus' clients. We provide counsel regarding U.S. trademark practice and effectively prosecute U.S. applications for these foreign business entities.

"We are committed to providing our clients with prompt and excellent legal solutions. Our relationship with Becker Meisel has helped us facilitate proceedings in the U.S. to efficiently serve the business needs of our clients regionally and worldwide."

*-- Jonathan Foong,
Associate Director,
Infinitus Law Corporation*

COPYRIGHT, PATENT AND TRADEMARK LICENSING

We understand that effective licensing of copyright, patent, trademark and know-how assets creates value for our clients.

We craft agreements that combine real-world commercial impact with our understanding of the legal ramifications of the agreement. We appreciate our clients' specific goals, including the likely problematic areas, and develop appropriate strategies to achieve our clients' commercial targets.

Our familiarity with the technology sector has given us extensive experience in drafting numerous custom software development and licensing agreements for our clients.

Tim Szuhaj has negotiated sophisticated technology development and license agreements for prominent inventors, including Dr. Erol Veznedaroglu, Director of Neurosciences and Endovascular & Cerebrovascular Neurosurgery at Capital Health's Stroke & Cerebrovascular Center of New Jersey.

"The field of health and medicine relies on innovation. Therefore, it is critical that technological discoveries be protected from inception to completion in order for medical professionals to offer patients the most advanced service available. Mr. Szuhaj understands this and has the experience and professionalism to execute that protection successfully."

-- Dr. Erol Veznedaroglu

"As a non-profit organization, the Coalition's mission is at the heart of our business dealings. Becker Meisel has been integral in securing the integrity of our TrialCheck[®] system, which serves as a resource for patients, caregivers and healthcare professionals. We value their support in helping us achieve our mission."

--Larissa Tis, Senior Director, eBusiness, Coalition of Cancer Cooperative Groups

We negotiated a complex deal between Dr. Veznedaroglu and a prominent West Coast medical device company. The resulting Services and Technology Option Agreement culminated in the development and commercialization of cutting-edge medical technology, as well as very favorable compensation for our client.

Likewise, the firm continues to represent the Coalition of Cancer Cooperative Groups with respect to licenses and services related to CCCG's industry-leading technology solutions and services, including the commercial roll-out and commercialization of both TrialCheck,[®] a comprehensive, Internet-based cancer clinical trial navigation and matching service containing all federally registered cancer studies, and TrialTracker, a clinical trials navigation software. We also advise CCCG regarding copyright matters, data ownership issues and other general business matters.

INTELLECTUAL PROPERTY PRACTICE

DEVELOPMENT AND OTHER “GO-TO-MARKET” AGREEMENTS

In addition to licensing, we counsel clients about the various channels available to commercialize their intellectual property. These include sophisticated Joint Development Agreements; Commercialization Agreements; Collaborative Research Agreements; Domestic and International Marketing and Distribution Agreements; OEM Agreements; Reseller Agreements; and End User Licenses.

“The nature of our business requires sensitivity to matters concerning the protection of our intellectual property. Becker Meisel’s expertise in this area has been a tremendous value to us.”

-- Paul Burgess, President and CEO, Lattice Incorporated

We represent Lattice Incorporated, solution providers focused on reliable and secure information and communications technology to the government and commercial markets, regarding all of its intellectual property matters. We have successfully negotiated various technology and patent licenses on behalf of Lattice as well as providing litigation counsel as needed.

Case Study: David Sprong, a partner who concentrates his practice in IP litigation, represented ASICS CORPORATION in numerous successful trademark infringement actions across the United States designed to protect the famous ASICS footwear trademarks. Employing an aggressive approach at the outset, these cases were often resolved quickly during the preliminary injunction phase of the litigation.

TRADEMARK, COPYRIGHT AND LICENSING LITIGATION AND ENFORCEMENT

We represent clients across the marketplace in trademark, copyright, trade dress and trade secret infringement actions, as well as licensing disputes, in the Federal Courts, the Trademark Trial and Appeal Board and administrative tribunals around the globe. From the initial cease and desist notice, through the preliminary injunction phase and ultimately to trial, we employ a dynamic, assertive and cost-effective approach to protecting our clients’ valuable intellectual property rights.

DUE DILIGENCE RELATED TO, AND FORMATION AND EXECUTION OF, MERGERS, ACQUISITIONS, AND JOINT VENTURES

We provide thorough due diligence services in connection with disposition of intellectual property, whether by sale, license, or purchase, or the pursuit of research and development agreements.

We conduct a methodical and comprehensive review of all forms of intellectual property in order to position the intellectual property assets for maximum value, fully assess relevant risks, and develop negotiating strategies to achieve business goals while minimizing those risks.

NON-COMPETITION, NON-DISCLOSURE AND CONSULTING ISSUES

Whether our client is a consultant or a company, when a consultant is engaged, the respective rights of the parties in their existing intellectual property and their rights in the resulting intellectual property must be determined and memorialized. We regularly draft agreements that not only delineate and protect each party's rights, but also maintain the agreed upon balance of competition with respect to those rights.

Our size and regional footprint allow us to provide sophisticated services in a manner focused not only on results, but also on our clients' return on their legal investment.

Becker Meisel is one of the few firms of its size and caliber that can boast of a minority, female founding partner, Stacey L. Meisel. The belief in diversity starts at the top, and as with many of the firm's corporate clients, is a cornerstone of the firm's mission statement.
