Livingston, N.J., December 1, 2011 – The law firm of Becker Meisel has announced the addition of attorney, N. Noelle Letcher, as partner, practicing in the firm’s litigation group, out of its Livingston, New Jersey office. Ms. Letcher will focus her practice on product liability and commercial litigation matters for Fortune 100 clients. Her experience includes litigating a broad range of commercial actions and business torts, possessing particular proficiency representing financial institutions and product manufacturers and sellers in consumer fraud claims; national retailers in premises liability matters; and corporate entities in restrictive covenants and self-dealing issues. Prior to joining Becker Meisel, Ms. Letcher was a partner at both Adorno & Yoss LLP and Coughlin Duffy LLP.

“We are pleased to welcome Noelle to Becker Meisel,” said Martin L. Borosko, Managing Member. “Noelle is a well-respected commercial litigator with a sophisticated practice that fits well with our existing practice and will further enhance our Litigation group.”

Her approach is informed by both her years of legal practice and her experience on the industry side, during which she worked with Sony Electronics, Onkyo USA and Starbucks.
