

Happy Fourth of July, Tiny Stitches Style!

We will not have a business meeting this month, but wanted to make sure you were in the loop with a few items.

We have been getting two different sizes of bibs coming in. All of the bibs are adorable, but in the interest of keeping things uniform, please make sure that your bib is no wider than a normal sheet of computer paper. (the pattern from the website --<https://o.b5z.net/i/u/10107854/i/usr/132/tsbib.pdf>)

Finishing School? No, not really, but we DO need to take that extra skinny minute to insure that our sweet babies are getting properly finished items. What does that entail? Keeping our tails tucked in. For all of our knitted and crocheted items, pulling that tail of yarn through several stitches, for quilts making sure that you either backstitch at each end or pull the final knot through to the middle (batting) and our serged items making sure that final "tail" is either pulled through or knotted. These items will get a bunch of washing and we want them to stand the test of time.

Girl creepers

To close, my husband Eric was honored to be able to hold his retirement from the Navy onboard the USS Constitution (Old Ironsides) in Boston last weekend. If you would like to see a few pictures and videos I have included below a link that you can click. (hopefully it works)

This Navy wife is "sew proud". God Bless Our Past and Present Troops!
