

How cute is the above gown? (text added)

Everyone continues to amaze us. Not only did you WAY come through with afghans and quilts, but the creative juices are flowing. Our babies are continuing to be served in what it looks to be the long haul still. Thank you for the extra hands we had on Wednesday. You are seen and appreciated!

*Loved this clever way of making a cuff for a gown, especially if you are out of ribbing. It has inspired me to do the same. Just be sure that it is a stretchy enough knit to open and then bounce back. Well done you!

* 🍁 I think we all knew that the Fall Luncheon was in jeopardy, but Jill has officially cancelled it. So, we will be hopeful that in 2021 we can have a great gathering of stitchers for fun fellowship.

* Next pre-pack and gather items / grab extra material will be on October 28th (Wednesday) 9-11. You are welcome to drop off items to Atlanta Sewing Center anytime. We will drop by and pick them up.

♥ On a very sad note, our sweet Ann Kessler has gone to be with Jesus. She was so kind and faithful. Always taking on the mountain of sleepers to be folded for pre-pack. She will be missed.

Love you all. Stay safe and know you are cherished and missed.
