***Open Position at Tiny Stitches*****

Pam Migneault who is currently our Funds Coordinator is stepping down because of health issues. She has compiled a lot of information for our grant proposals and is willing to help a new person get up-to-speed as to what is required as well as providing written instructions.

This is an important job but is not as involved as it sounds since we are a small organization. It's filling out grant forms, keeping track of what we do/don't receive and keeping track of the timeframe when a grant can be submitted again with certain companies/EMCs, etc. Once in the groove, it is just repetitious filling out of forms and providing whatever additional information might be asked of Tiny Stitches.

Please give this request careful consideration because even though we are in a good position right now - other than EMC money cannot be used for warehouse rent - we cannot fund Tiny Stitches without help from outside sources.
