Robin,

Thanks for all you help.

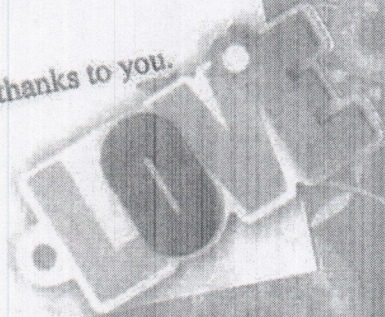

Because of your help in locating my wife's estranged family she was able to re-connect with her brother and two sisters, whom she hasn't seen in over 8 years. It is always a joy to get together with family during the Holiday Season.

This year will be a very special one for my wife thanks to you.

Again, Thanks

Note: Lunch is on me.

FROM: Det. D. Brown #2142

I had the opportunity to work with Robin Martinelli in January / February of 2009, regarding a missing juvenile case. In December 2008, a 13 yr old juvenile ran away from home (police case 08-166227). A month passed and the child had still not been located. The child's mother, Stacey Key, hired a private investigator by the name of Robin Martinelli to assist in locating her daughter.

Robin Martinelli shared information from her investigation and worked alongside the Missing Person Unit to locate the child. Eventually, DeKalb Police located the child by tracking her activity on the "MYSPACE" website.

Robin Martinelli conducted herself professionally during the investigation and shared any new information that she developed. She was also a helpful liaison between the police department and the child's mother.

Listmates,

This is a bit overdue since the trial ended over a month ago, but I wanted to take a moment to share an appreciative note regarding Martinelli Investigations.

I was appointed to an armed robbery case in Gwinnett and as is usual in judge Batchelor's docket, it came up for trial very quickly. I was granted funds and immediately contacted Robin at Martinelli Investigations. Robin and her staff worked the case tirelessly and provided a very high level of support throughout the preparatory period and the trial itself, with Robin sitting in the back of the courtroom during the trial, ready to coordinate her staff as soon as there was a need. And there were. Many, in fact.

As most solo attorneys can attest to, trying a case solo is like being on an island by yourself. Minutiae of trial management and witness corralling (like herding cats sometimes!) can get in the way of actually trying a case. And I cannot adequately express what a comfort it was to have someone ready to help out whenever something unexpected popped up. Robin was amazing with my client and even though we were ultimately unsuccessful in persuading the jury to see it our way, I truly believe that both my client and I had the best support possible during this process.

So thank you, Robin and everyone at the Martinelli Investigations.

To Whom it may Concern:

About 18 months ago, Robin Martinelli was hired by the defendant in a alleged child molestation case where I was the prosecutor. For months, she tirelessly sought exculpatory evidence for her client. She hit the witnesses early before they could get their stories "straight" and before our investigator with the Sheriff's Office even got their names. She found such good evidence that when it was presented to the arresting officer, it convinced her that the allegations were false. When the officer was called to the grand jury and as a result, the case was no billed. If it weren't for Robin, there is no doubt that I would have indicted and tried her client because I had a prima facie case of child molestation. She did a great job and through her efforts justice was done. I would recommend her services to anyone seeking an investigator.
