This oil painting workshop will encompass all aspects of design as well as painting technique. The elements of value (degrees of light and dark) as well as shape, texture, and color will be used to develop paintings from photographs.

Students are encouraged to bring their own photos though Judy will also have photos available. We will discuss how to choose a photo and crop it to make a better painting.

Judy works with a fairly limited palette and will discuss color mixing and the benefits of cohesive related colors in creating a sophisticated painting. We will be using brushes and palette knives, and can experiment with cold wax medium if desired.

We will work with shadows, keeping them interesting, colorful and lively, as well as reflections with techniques for making them feel "wet".

There will be daily demonstration and ample time for students to paint and have individual help.
