

Franklin Square Gallery - Workshop with Becky Zee

FANTASTIC CRITTERS and HOW TO MAKE THEM February 21 & 22, 2020

9 am to 5 pm @ Brunswick Community College, 701 N. Lord St, Southport

Sculpt your own whimsical characters in clay and pick up a boatload of tips on how to bring any humanoid, beast, or monster to life from the CritterMaker herself, Becky Zee! Class participants will be taken on an in-depth tour of her process in which they will learn to create at least three of their own original critters. Along the journey, they will receive technical pointers on the basics of human anatomy, with special attention being given to the face, the hands, and the feet. Those building blocks will then be used to learn about the art of caricature and how to go about crafting believable fictions from a base of reality. The only limit is your imagination! Does your critter have scales? What about a huge spiky tail? Curly swirly horns? Three eyes? Shaggy hair? If you can dream it, Becky Zee will help you make it come alive! Beginners and advanced students are welcome. The focus will be on hand-building techniques. Wheel throwing skills are not necessary, but can certainly be used if students choose that route to build their critter bodies.
