Selfless Love

The essence to free the Spirit with unconditional Love. The essence of selfless service. To drink from the deeper side of one's Love nature. Not to be caught in emotional traps in dealings with fellow humans or your own Life path. To sensitize to a point beyond personalization, freeing the heart with services. Helpful for those who desire to merge with the Universal purpose and on all levels, practical and internal, share their treasures with others.

Mind – Common Uses

For the person who can't differentiate between personal and impartial giving.

For those feeling hurt when not appreciated, needing to be able to handle people from a deeper perspective. Desire for fulfilment in personal relationships is thwarted and frustration, sadness and irritation set in. Often the person tries to change the one who is the object of their love to accommodate their desires and wishes but such a process can take an eternity and mostly it just doesn't work out.

For those who have jobs or activities centred around people, such as school teachers, nurses, therapists, parents, this essence inspires the giving of unconditional Love, that is Love with no strings attached, which allows the best outcome for those who receive and those who give.

For the spiritual aspirant.

The healing brings a sensitivity beyond the point of personalisation, thus freeing the heart with service and genuine Love. Such people then feel free to Love without concerning themselves for what response may occur in return, and so the atmosphere of Joy around them increases.

Healing Pathway to the soul

The personality craves personal emotional fulfilment. This is natural. Our journey through the wants of the personality to the wisdom of seeking the peace of the Soul is a journey that teaches us where true fulfilment lies. We find out that personal cravings demand a price, binding us to the continual ups and downs of pleasure and pain. When we respond from the Soul level we are completely free because we are able to give and act without ties and conditions. We are not moulding our responses to whether we get something in exchange. The fulfilment lies in being able to give love, in its many forms. Exactly as it is needed – Selflessly.
