

The Pretribulational Promise of Revelation 3:10

Revelation 3:10: “Because you have kept My command to persevere, I also will keep you from the hour of trial which shall come upon the whole world, to test those who dwell on the earth.”

The phrase, “keep you from” (tereo [keep you] ek[from]) is a form of tereo, “I keep, preserve”). Used with “ek” it means “keep you from” or “out of.” This is carefully described in the Greek which clearly teaches the pretribulational rapture of the church. The justification: The Greek words for “keep from” means “out of.” If this is not what is meant, then John would have used the following:

1. Tereo en* = “to keep in”: This would be a promise of preservation in the Tribulation (e.g., posttribulational perspective).
2. Tereo dia* = “to keep through”: This would be a promise to keep us through the Tribulation (e.g., posttribulational perspective).
3. Aireo ek* = “to take out” or “sozo ek” = “to save out”: This could mean that believers would go into the Great Tribulation & then be taken out of it (e.g., midtribulational perspective).
4. Aireo apo* = “to take from”: This would mean that believers would go into the Tribulation then would be taken out of the Tribulation (e.g., midtribulational perspective).
