CAST YOUR BREAD UPON THE WATERS

By Tom Moore

Solomon, as he was looking for the true meaning to life, wrote, "Cast your bread upon the waters, for you will find it after many days" (Eccl. 11:1). This verse in Ecclesiastes seems to be an allusion to the casting of rice or some other type of seed unto a marsh, and though one is unable to see the seed entering the ground, he can expect a harvest to come when the waters recede. I wonder what type of harvest will be prevalent as the waters recede in our community, our home, the church?

Our acts of Christianity, at times seem to be cast on the waters, that is, upon those who are in present need. We look at what we have done, and wonder, "Will there be fruit born?" "Are we making a difference?" "Are we wasting our time?" We must realize that our Christian acts to not always bear fruit immediately, but will "after many days," as Solomon discovered. There are blessings that can be received immediately when we give to those in physical and spiritual need. When we cast joy and happiness to others, we shall receive joy and happiness in return. If we cast our bread upon the waters there will be blessings and fruit to follow.

Think of the great opportunity we presently have to make a great impact for the cause of Christ! Our precious Lord taught, "Let your light so shine before men, that they may see your good works and glorify your Father in heaven" (Mt. 5:16). Consider the ability we often have to prick the softened hearts of those suffering difficulties. Perhaps they will see the need for God; and, perhaps, we can help them see Him.

Often because we cannot see immediate results we tend to want to give up, but this, of course, is unacceptable. Paul declared, "And let us not grow weary while doing good, for in due season we shall reap if we do not lose heart." (Gal. 6:9). Isaiah said, "Blessed are you that sow beside all waters ..." (Isa. 32:20). We must believe Solomon when he said, "Cast your bread upon the waters, For you will find it after many days" (Eccl. 11:1). Let us not pass up this opportunity to make a great impact for the cause of Christ and bring glory to God through our acts of Christianity.
