

Dear Brothers and Sisters,

This Monday, Nov. 11, our parish will be hosting the “Forming Intentional Disciples” conference from 9am-4pm. This is a significant event not only for our parish but regionally as we welcome parishioners and parish leaders from all over the Maryland and the surrounding states. The great response to the conference reflects something wonderful that is happening in the life the Church: a desire to bring our parishes to life, moving beyond a practice of our faith as something just “cultural”, not being content passively receiving those who might find their way to us, but actively bringing the Gospel out to the world. Please keep the conference in your prayers, that it might a blessing for our parish and our Archdiocese.

Monday is also Veteran’s Day and we join in honoring those who have served our country in the cause of freedom. So many sacrifices are made, daily hardships endured, so that we might enjoy the freedom that is ours. We remember our veterans in our prayers and ask the Lord to bless them. For our Catholic veterans, remember that we have an active post of the Catholic War Veterans right here in our own parish, shared with St. Paul’s and Resurrection. For more information about them please visit: <http://cwvmd.org/1961About.html>

Finally, thank you for your support of Families Helping Families at Thanksgiving - I’m grateful for the wonderful work that our St. Vincent de Paul Society does and for all of you who support and make it happen! God bless you!

SUPPORT VOCATIONS & CATHOLIC MILITARY CHAPLAINS

Currently, 285 Catholic military chaplains provide pastoral care to over 1.5 million Catholics on ships, in combat, on bases and in 153 VA hospitals.

This weekend, after Mass, our Catholic War Veterans will have a Collection for the Archdiocese for the Military Services (AMS). Donations received will help to fund their Co-Sponsored Seminarian Program, which identifies vocations within the military and is now educating 30 men for the priesthood and subsequent military chaplaincy. The AMS has no parishes from which to draw financial support and relies solely on donations. The national collection is taken up just once every three years to support the Archdiocese for the Military Services—the only arm of the Church responsible for supplying priests to serve as chaplains in the U.S. military around the world.

See their website for more information:

<http://www.milarch.org/faq>

Please include these people and their families in your prayers that they may experience Christ's comfort and healing.

OLPH CATHOLIC BOOK CLUB

OLPH Catholic Book club has the next book selection! Please join us in reading Jesus Shock by Peter Kreeft. Jesus is the single greatest agent of change in human history. A quote from page 43 of Jesus Shock is interesting, "Where do we find sloth? Go to your nearest Sunday morning church service, Protestant or Catholic. Then go to your nearest athletic field, amateur or professional. Compare the interest, the passion, the energy, the investment of the heart in those two places... Don't we know what's going on in church?" Copies of Jesus Shock may be available on the OLPH Bookrack for three dollars. OLPH Book club will meet to discuss Jesus Shock on Friday, December 6th at 7 p.m. in one of the Triple Rooms of the parish center.

Profile of an Angel in the Community

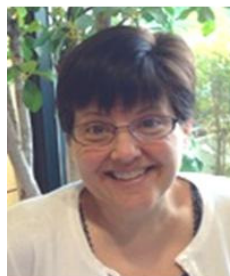

Kate Ortman ~ Director, Brain Training of Maryland

The Ortman family recently joined OLPH, eager to get involved. Michael joined our Music Ministry as a cantor and Kate connected with fellow parishioners in the "33 Days to Morning Glory" prayer group. Kate has partnered with OLPH School through their Angels in the Community (AIC) program as a way to support Catholic education while introducing families to the unique educational services she provides through Brain Training of Maryland.

Kate's program is benefiting several OLPH School families. Faculty, staff and parents have seen a marked improvement in the students she works with. As one parent shared, "Since he began Brain Training, we've seen a clear improvement in our child's behavior, focus and attention, at both home and school. The way Kate and her staff interact with the children is wonderful. They are true Angels!"

Kate and Michael started their family with three active boys, then found enough room in their home and hearts to foster and adopt three more children. Kate learned volumes by nurturing multiple children with learning differences, and has a special passion to nurture unique qualities in people she works with. Kate is a certified AD/HD Life Coach for parents, teenagers and college students. Her revolutionary cognitive therapies use Interactive Metronome (IM) and Integrated Listening Systems (iLS) to unleash potential for children and adults with learning differences, improve performance of athletes, and expedite recovery from traumatic brain injuries.

GETTING TO KNOW OUR CATHOLIC SAINTS

Saint Martin of Tours (316-397) Feast Day: November 11

A conscientious objector who wanted to be a monk; a monk who was maneuvered into being a bishop; a bishop who fought paganism as well as pleaded for mercy to heretics.

Born of pagan parents in what is now Hungary and raised in Italy, this son of a veteran was forced at the age of 15 to serve in the army. He became a Christian catechumen and was baptized at 18. It was said that he lived more like a monk than a soldier. After great difficulties, he was discharged and went to be a disciple of Hilary of Poitiers. He was ordained an exorcist and worked with great zeal against the Arians. He became a monk, living first at Milan and later on a small island. When Hilary was restored to his see after exile, Martin returned to France and established what may have been the first French monastery near Poitiers. He lived there for 10 years, forming his disciples and preaching throughout the countryside. The people of Tours demanded that he become their bishop. He was drawn to that city by a ruse—the need of a sick person—and was brought to the church, where he reluctantly allowed himself to be consecrated bishop. Some of the consecrating bishops thought his rumpled appearance and unkempt hair indicated that he was not dignified enough for the office. Along with St. Ambrose, Martin rejected Bishop Ithacius's principle of putting heretics to death—as well as the intrusion of the emperor into such matters. He prevailed upon the emperor to spare the life of the heretic Priscillian. For his efforts, Martin was accused of the same heresy, and Priscillian was executed after all. Martin then pleaded for a cessation of the persecution of Priscillian's followers in Spain. He still felt he could cooperate with Ithacius in other areas, but afterwards his conscience troubled him about this decision. As death approached, his followers begged him not to leave them. He prayed, “Lord, if your people still need me, I do not refuse the work. Your will be done.” A famous legend goes, On a bitterly cold day, (while still a soldier) Martin met a poor man, almost naked, trembling in the cold and begging from passersby at the city gate. Martin had nothing but his weapons and his clothes. He drew his sword, cut his cloak into two pieces, gave one to the beggar and wrapped himself in the other half. Some of the bystanders laughed at his now odd appearance; others were ashamed at not having relieved the man's misery. That night in his sleep Martin saw Christ dressed in the half of the garment he had given away, and heard him say, “Martin, still a catechumen, has covered me with his garment.” Saint Martin of Tours is the patron saint of beggars, wine makers, horses and soldiers.
